#BLM MURAL

On October 10th, 2020, Colorado State University's Department of Art & Art History installed a Black Lives Matter Mural at the Visual Arts Building. Art students and faculty alike were an integral part of the mural's planning and installation. This mural has been in the works since Spring of 2020, when several other BLM Murals were being installed around the country, but several concerns from CSU Administration blocked the project from happening.

To address the negative feedback, the mural has an informational QR code for people to scan and interact with. It gives a history of BLM Murals in general and how the CSU Mural came to fruition. It also has space for people to leave all their comments- good or bad. To address the possibility of it being defaced, there are cameras being installed around the mural's vicinity and it is now protected as CSU property. If someone chooses to deface the mural, they'll face actual criminal charges from the city of Fort Collins. Being a part of the installation was, at face value, fun. It was pleasing to see some of CSU's community come together in solidarity to show support for the Black lives on campus. A lot of work went into the planning of the mural and even more work went into its installation. Being a part of something this historic was a heavy feeling; but also a tense feeling. For many students, this mural is a promise that work will be done to effect change on campus. However, only time will tell if CSU is ready to be an active ally in protecting and supporting its Black students.

Finally, during Summer 2020, the Department of Art & Art History gathered art and Black students to discuss whether or not it should actually be installed on campus. Again, several concerns came up in this discussion; but rather than shutting down the project, CSU Faculty advocated for it and did everything in their power to address these concerns. One of the concerns was, "What about all the negative feedback this mural will get?" Several other murals, if not all of them, have been criticized by White Supremacists and all lives matter supporters. These groups have even gone so far as to deface the murals installed in their hometowns and threaten the lives of those who help install them.

BLACK MALE THINK TANK

THE BLACK MALE THINK TANK IS A PROGRAM THAT OFFERS A SPACE FOR BLACK MEN OF ALL DIFFERENT ACADEMIC LEVELS AND BACKGROUNDS TO COME TOGETHER AND DISCUSS VARIOUS TOPICS WITHIN THEIR LOCAL COMMUNITY AND THOSE COMMUNITIES AROUND THE WORLD. MOST IMPORTANTLY, IT GIVES A PLATFORM FOR THESE MEN TO GET CONNECTED WITH EACH OTHER AND ESTABLISH A STRONG RELATIONSHIP. SOME OF THE VARIOUS TOPICS OF THIS YEARS BLACK MALE THINK TANK WERE “WHAT IS OUR RESPONSIBILITY AS BLACK MEN IN OUR COMMUNITIES?” AND “WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A MAN?” THESE TOPICS OF DISCUSSION HELPED THOSE THAT ATTENDED LEARN THE MINDSETS OF THEIR PEERS ON CAMPUS, AS WELL AS AIDED IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THEIR OWN PERSONAL IDEAS. IN ADDITION TO QUESTIONS ABOUT TOPICS AROUND THE MALE IDENTITY, THERE WERE ALSO MEETINGS CREATED AS A CHECK IN TO MAKE SURE THAT INDIVIDUALS WERE DOING WELL IN THEIR DAY TO DAY LIVES. THESE CHECK INS WERE VALUABLE AS THEY PROVIDED SPACE FOR EVERYONE TO REFLECT ON HOW THEY WERE DOING, FURTHER ESTABLISHING THE VALUE OF PERSONAL CARE. THE BLACK MALE THINK TANK WAS VERY EFFECTIVE IN PROVIDING A SPACE FOR MY PEERS IN THE COMMUNITY AND FOR MYSELF TO DEVELOP AS ONE.

This year, B/AACC added a new livestream series on Instagram TV call First-Year Friday hosted by first-year student and Peer Coordinator, Jasmine Retland. First-Year Friday is a livestream series dedicated to making a space where Black first-year students can share their experiences on CSU's campus. They talk on topics ranging from the transition from high school to college all the way to what their plans and goals are as they continue their college career into their sophomore year. This semester, due to COVID 19 things looked a lot different for everyone, especially the incoming Freshman. There were a lot of things that freshman students missed out on like a true Ram Welcome and the carnival.

A lot of the challenge for first-year students was trying to make connections with people whether it was making friends, establishing strong relationships with professors, or even getting to know the clubs and organizations that run on campus in hopes to join one of these communities. First-Year Fridays gave students like Adrian Perez a moment to vent and students like Mykala Wimberly a place to promote herself. It also gave students like Ian Yassa an opportunity to reflect and Jakobe Jones a chance for good conversation with a fellow first year student. First-Year Fridays opened a door for students who were special guest and students watching the stream to build community through sharing our stories and our experiences for others to connect, relate, and empathize with. First-Year Fridays has only just begun, and we can't wait to see what the future holds for our first-year Black students.

AFRICANS UNITED & BLACK STUDENT ALLIANCE

The collaboration between Black Student Alliance (BSA) and Africans United (AU) was created in order to bring together different communities of students across the CSU campus. Through the meetings of these two organizations, education about many cultures all around the world was shared, such as those folk tales that exist in countries all around Africa as well as the United States. Bringing together these two organizations was very impactful, creating more ideas and concepts to be shared and discussed upon. Most importantly, meetings that were held every Thursday of the week allowed for students to connect with each other and learn more about everyone's culture.

UNITED MEN OF COLOR

UNITED MEN OF COLOR IS AN ORGANIZATION MEANT TO UNIFY AND STRENGTHEN THE RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN MEN OF COLOR ON THE COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY CAMPUS. IN A PREDOMINANTLY WHITE UNIVERSITY, IT IS HARD TO NAVIGATE YOURSELF AS BOTH A PERSON OF COLOR AND AS A MAN. IN FACT, IN OUR WORLD IN GENERAL, SOCIETY HAS BOXED OUR MEN OF COLOR TO STEREOTYPES AND TOXIC TRAITS WHICH ONLY LEAD MEN DOWN A ROAD OF THEIR DEMISE. IN UNITED MEN OF COLOR, WE PRIDE OURSELVES IN BREAKING DOWN THE STEREOTYPES OF MASCULINITY AND REDEFINING WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A MAN. WE ARE BUILDING THE FOUNDATION FOR MEN, FUTURE LEADERS, GIVING THEM PRIDE AND CONFIDENCE IN THEIR OWN IDENTITY, ENCOURAGING THEIR JOURNEYS, EXPLORATION, AND SELF REALIZATIONS. WITH VOLUNTEERING FOR A PLETHORA OF PROGRAMS, PARTICIPATION IN SOCIAL ACTIVISM, AND THE ORGANIZING OF COMMUNITIES FUNCTIONS, UNITED MEN OF COLOR MAKES IT A PRIORITY TO STAY ACTIVE IN THE COMMUNITY AS IT NOT ONLY BENEFITS THEIR DEVELOPMENT, BUT LETS THE COMMUNITY KNOW THAT WE NOT ONLY LEAD, BUT SUPPORT AS WELL.

National Pan-Hellenic Council

The National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC) is an organization composed of the nine historically Black/African American Greek-lettered fraternities and sororities. The NPHC was created on May 10, 1930 on the campus of Howard University, in Washington, D.C. and was chartered under the laws of the State of Illinois in 1937. At the time of the NPHC's inception, African Americans were being denied various rights supposedly granted to all citizens under the law of the U.S. Constitution. Due to racial tensions on predominantly white campuses, Black students felt the need to seek community with other individuals who shared common goals, ideals, culture, and struggles.

The individual Black Greek-lettered organizations and the NPHC have been used throughout the years to facilitate brotherhood and sisterhood among college educated Black/African Americans. The organizations and the council aim to bring about social change through the development of programs and initiatives that cultivate equity among social groups. The NPHC at CSU was established in 2017 and consists of the active historically Black/African American Greek-lettered organizations on CSU's campus including the local chapters of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Incorporated, Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Incorporated, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Incorporated, and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. The CSU NPHC's operations include forums, social media exchanges, informational programs, volunteering in the community, and weekly meetings for members.

Presidents Multicultural Student Advisory Council

This semester, students, Joslyn Orji and Janaye Matthews served as the student liaisons for the President's Multicultural Student Advisory Committee (PMSAC). PMSAC is an advisory group to the President and University administrators, professionals, and academic faculty. This committee is created with the intent to gauge student perspectives and facilitate a space dedicated to addressing broad issues of multiculturalism and social identities. As a multicultural-focused committee, representatives from other Student Diversity Programs and Services (SDPS) offices such as El Centro, the Asian/Pacific American Cultural Center (APACC), and the Pride Center, among many others, have also been in attendance, offering their perspectives concerning the various campus-oriented issues that would be discussed.

Every other Thursday evening, from 5-6 pm, PMSAC representatives met virtually to engage in meaningful conversations facilitated by notable university faculty members and administrators such as President Joyce McConnell, Dr. Blanche Hughes, the current Vice President for Student Affairs at CSU, and Kathy Sisneros, the current Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs. In the past, PMSAC meetings have been in-person, however, this semester the meetings were fully virtual. Conducted in a timely and efficient manner, the meetings have been fulfilling and progress-driven, with several significant concerns communicated effectively to the Presidential Administration. Some topics that have been discussed include the 20th Annual Diversity Symposium, Halloween awareness campaigns that focused on educating students about offensive costumes, and various campus and personal security concerns. For those on PMSAC, this semester was not only challenging but it was successful in giving students the opportunity to voice their concerns, comments, and opinions on the events of this virtual semester.
